WELCOME TO ART IN BLOOM!

Our heartfelt thanks go to the floral, garden, and landscape artists whose talent has made this festival of art and flowers a beautiful new tradition at the NCMA, especially to the members of the American Institute of Floral Designers and the Garden Club of North Carolina, Inc. We are grateful for your artistic vision and generous donation of time and materials.

Special thanks to Steve Taras and the team at Watered Garden Florist for their gifts of space, time, materials, and general good humor, and to Carol Dowd, AIFD, for organizing the AIFD Presents series. Thanks also to Cydney Davis English and the team at English Garden for use of their studio space.

A WORD ABOUT THE FLOWERS

After selecting their works of art in January, designers were given six weeks to plan and submit a list of flowers for the pedestal labels. You may notice that, in some cases, the flowers used are not the flowers listed. The reasons for this include transportation delays, weather issues, and poor quality upon delivery. In those cases the designers have made substitutions to present the finest selections possible.

Listed sponsors have made donations to the NCMA Foundation in support of Art in Bloom. However, all flowers and other materials are donated by the designers or the organizations they represent.

A WORD ABOUT THE OUTDOORS

To protect the art in the Museum, only treated materials are allowed in West Building; natural and organic plants remain outside. Please take the time to wander through the spectacular works of living art in and around the Museum buildings, where the best growers and gardeners in North Carolina have come together to bring the many colors of our state to the Triangle.

Museum Park Volunteers

The NCMA Park Volunteers are interested in horticulture, landscape design, sculpture, recreation, and staying active and involved in our community. The 164-acre Museum Park offers volunteers opportunities to maintain three miles of recreation trails; contribute to upkeep of the outdoor works of art; and help plant, prune, and propagate many plant species. We enjoy pairing skills and interests of volunteers to the different offerings within the Park. Call Lindsey Dougherty at (919) 664-6742 or email LMDougherty@ncartmuseum.org to learn more. Or join our meetup group by searching for "North Carolina Museum of Art, Park Volunteer Group."
