Raleigh, NC—The North Carolina Museum of Art (NCMA) will host a slate of exciting dance performances, films, and concerts for the Museum's 2023 Outdoor Performing Arts and Film season, presented by First Citizens Bank. Kick starting the concert series will be a performance by The Wood Brothers with Shovels & Rope at the Joseph M. Bryan, Jr., Theater in the Museum Park on Friday, May 19, at 7:30pm.

The Wood Brothers with Shovel & Rope

The Wood Brothers are Grammy-nominated leaders of American roots music, reaching far beyond the genre's borders to connect across all audiences through visceral storytelling and songwriting. An acoustic-driven album that electrifies, Heart is the Hero is stocked with songs that target not only the heart, but the head and hips, too.

"We love records that come from the era of less tracks and more care," explains co-founder Oliver Wood.

Opening for The Wood Brothers will be Shovels & Rope, an American folk duo from Charleston, SC who blends traditional folk, rock and roll, and country rock.
